Shakedown

Sierra Swan

I can see the fear in your eyes, my friend
But you can't see what you looking for
Here comes trouble knocking at the door
It's not too late to run and hide my dear
But you don't know where you're gonna goSo don't get caught in the middle of the road
You've been creepin' in the dark
And you been stealing all the ladies hearts
There ain't no love, dear, where you're going to
So you better pack your bags and your running shoesIt's a shakedown
Hate to say I told you so
You're having a breakdown
Three week shy of the undertowYou've been walkin' on thin ice, my friend
Have you even heard a single word I've said
'Cause you haven't seen the 'Caution' signs ahead
You riding dangerously on the edge, my dear
But you seem to know what you're falling for
You'll hit bottom and come back for moreYou been creepin' in the dark
You've been stealin' all the ladies hearts
There ain't no love, dear, where you're going to
So you better pack your bags and your running shoesIt's a shakedown
Hate to say I told you so
You're havin' a breakdown
Three week shy of the undertowAnd it's a meltdown
A real high price to pay
A real bad comedown
I can smell trouble from a mile away
Yeah, I can smell trouble from a mile away
And I can smell trouble from a mile away
And this is not your lucky dayIt's a shakedown
Hate to say I told you so
You're having a breakdown
Three week shy of the undertowIt's a shakedown
I hate to say I told you so
You're having a breakdown
Three week shy of the undertowAnd it's a meltdown
A real high price to pay
A real bad comedown
I can smell trouble from a mile away
Yeah, I can smell trouble from a mile away

And I can smell trouble from a mile away
And this might be your lucky day
