

Window Of Your Mind

Get Cape. Wear Cape. Fly

She said she'd like to step outside
All of the boxes that made burdens in her mind
And run knee deep into the tide
Chasing the birds as they descend into flight
And you don't have to be constrained
By all the railroads and the motorways
And you don't have to be afraid I've never witnessed the Northern Lights
I've never walked on the Seine at night
Won't you take me there through the window of your mind?
I want to see all the world with you
Take a walk amongst the caribou
Or watch the Louvre fountains sparkle in your eyes
Can we go there tonight? And as he sat behind the desk and he pondered
When he'd have the time to rest from all the windows and the files
His old friend sanity's been missing for awhile
And you don't have to feel constrained
By your mortgage and your minimum wage
And you don't have to feel ashamed I've never witnessed the Northern Lights
I've never walked on the Seine at night
Won't you take me there through the window of your mind?
I want to see all the world with you
Take a walk amongst the caribou
Or watch the Louvre fountains sparkle in your eyes

Songwriters

Nitin Sawhney; Samuel Lloyd Duckworth Published by

WARNER/CHAPPELL MUSIC PUBLISHING LT Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.

Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>