

For The Ocean

Finger Eleven

Without it I'm failing
My heart waits in the wings alone
The stages I go through Keep coming time and time and time again Do you wonder how
I stay so complacent It's like waiting for the ocean
To save you from the waves
When you're so far under
Silent, never moving and never moving You've taken your timing
So flawless executing me
So fearless and hopeful
Can you imagine such a scene Do you wonder how
I stay so complacent It's like waiting for the ocean
To save you from the waves
When you're so far under
Silent, never Waiting for the needle
To take away the pain
Until finally we numb
Our every bone Do you wonder, did you ever wonder
How I stay so complacent
I stay so complacent It's like waiting for the ocean
To save you from the waves
When you're so far under
Silent, never Waiting for the needle
To take away the pain
Until finally we numb
Our every bone, our every bone

Songwriters

ARNOLD DAVID LANNI, JAMES RYAN BLACK, ROBERT SCOTT ANDERSON Published by Lyrics © RESERVOIR MEDIA MANAGEMENT Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>