Is It Any Wonder

Sophie Ellis-Bextor

Turn me down to the ground
I like to feel the coolness on my face
Lie me down, show me how
I can begin to hold you endlessly
And I don't sleep, so I don't dream of leaving
And when I wake I face the night
And I don't speak, I listen to the breathing
I often think I hear my fate
So is it any wonder that I'm finding someone
In this place here next to me? And is it any wonder
That we found each other? We've found another
Who meets the same, is it any wonder?
Don't explain by it's name
We write our words forever in the space
Who could say chance again
Chooses to bring together you and me?
Now, don't lose sleep 'cause I won't dream of leaving
I lie awake and face the night, I lie awake and dream of you
So is it any wonder that I'm finding someone
In this place here next to me?
And is it any wonder that you made it here?
We've found another who meets the same
And is it any wonder that I'm finding someone
In this place here next to me?
And is it any wonder that you made it here?
I've found another who meets the same
