

Restless Heart

Lisa Miskovsky

Caught your eyes across the cantina floor
Hiding my smile when you passed through the door
We were young, only 17
Driving around in your daddy's dream And I was your angel, oh baby, you were my king
And we had coins in our pockets, and we had songs to sing
And I had my mom's dress, no wedding ring
We walked down at the valley but I couldn't hear your restless heart You're always working, always running late
So, I eat my dinner and watch the show that you hate
Oh, how can you spark, when I burn so bright
And how can I breathe when you will not fight Love is like gold, you just have to dig deep
It's not a diamond, it's cool and it won't work with greed
At the end of the rainbow, your dreams come apart

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>