

Disorientated

Delta Goodrem

Looking in an empty space
Searching for my inner place
Out of patience, out of balance, out of time
Out of breath, out of focus, these shapes in my mind Who is this face I see?
And why is this happening to me?
Out of patience, out of balance, out of time
Out of breath, out of focus, these shapes in my mind Things are changing
So much arranging of my life
I must take hold
I'll keep on spinning until I find myself again So I woke up and there's the moon
Seems to have risen just a little soon
But who's calling out my name anyway? Oh, I'm disorientated
I'm trying not to be jaded
When it's all so complicated
'Cause I'm a little disorientated Walking in a different space
Looking back just in case
Out of patience, out of balance, out of time
Out of breath, out of focus, these shapes in my mind Love is forever
And hate was in the never
Out of patience, out of balance, out of time
Out of breath, out of focus, these shapes in my mind Things are changing
So much arranging of my life
I must take hold
I'll keep on spinning until I find myself again So I woke up and there's the clock
It was ticking backwards, had I forgot?
But what day is it anyway? Oh, I'm disorientated
I'm trying not to be jaded
When it's all so complicated
'Cause I'm a little disorientated Things are changing
So much arranging of my life
I must take hold
I'll keep on spinning until I find myself again So I woke up and saw the sun
Seems like my life has just begun
How 'bout I start it today anyway? Oh, I'm disorientated
I'm trying not to be jaded
When it's all so complicated
'Cause I'm a little disorientated I'm disorientated
I'm trying not to be jaded
When it's all so complicated

'Cause I'm a little disorientated
