The Drifter and the Gypsy

Rosi Golan

The train is almost here
This decision seems so clear
I can feel the habit cutting like a knife
In the end I know that it is gonna drive
Right into me'Cause I'm a drifter
And I know that doesn't do me any good
Moving on from place to place
Never staying where I should, humI left him just to leave
No, I left him 'cause he needed me
I can feel him looking at me like I stole
His '67 Chevrolet and drove it away'Cause I'm a gypsy
And I know that doesn't do me any good
Moving on from place to place
Stealing hearts just 'cause I could
Hum, humWalked into another strange place
Didn't see a single face
That I recognized, don't want to
Guess it's onto the next trace'Cause I'm a drifter
And I know that doesn't do me any good
Moving on from place to place
Never staying where I shouldYeah, I'm a Gypsy
And I know that doesn't do me any good
Moving on from place to place
Stealing hearts just 'cause I couldHum
Stealing hearts just 'cause I could
(Just staying where I should)Hum
Stealing hearts just 'cause I could
(Just staying where I should)Hum
Stealing hearts just 'cause I could (Just staying where I should)
Hum
