

Sink Like a Stone

Stephanie McIntosh

With every breath, I breathe you in and out
With every touch, I fall to deep in love
With every look, I lose a piece of my heart
Yet I don't know who you are
A stranger's kiss is not a risk worth taking
But I kiss you for sure anyway
Why don't you steal this smile
But swear you won't leave me alone
Or I would sink like a stone
Silently you slip in
And totally change everything
Suddenly I hear breathing
And now I am sinking like a stone
With every word, you spell our destiny
My world just spins, into a crazy dream
With every hour, we talk until it is light
It's a perfect, perfect night
I never wished for you to be mistaken
But please God, let you feel this way too
Softly you steal a kiss, I'm floored
I am gone, I am broke
And I would sink like a stone
Silently you slip in
(So silently)
And totally change everything
Suddenly I hear breathing
And now I am sinking
(Like a stone)
Silently you slip in
And totally change everything
Suddenly I hear breathing
And now I am sinking
Like a feather that has fallen right at your feet
And like the rain that tries to quench
The thirst of summer heat
What you say about a lifetime of someone to love?
I am sinking like a stone, help me, oh
Silently you slip in
(Oh so silently)
And totally change everything
Suddenly I hear breathing
And now I am sinking
(Like a stone)
Silently you slip in
And totally change everything
Suddenly I hear breathing
And now I am sinking
(Like a stone)
Silently you slip in

(Sinking like a stone)
And totally change everything
(I am sinking)
Suddenly I hear breathing
(Like a stone)
And now I am sinking
Silently you slip in
