

Back To Me

Building 429

Tears burn like the flame of the fire
And words hurt when they come from an empty heart
Then time stops like the hands of a broken clock
And everything that lit up your life is covered in the darkness Well, I know, I know
I feel your pain, I know, I know When the world is closin' in, you're breakin' down
You're cryin' out but there is no answer
When you call, just close your eyes and know that
This twisted road eventually, is gonna lead you back to me Ice melts to reveal a frozen soul
And the water rises to new suffocating heights
And it feels like, you're drownin' in desperation
'Cause everything that lit up your life is covered in the darkness Well, I know, I know
I feel your pain When the world is closin' in, you're breakin' down
You're cryin' out but there is no answer
When you call, just close your eyes and know that
This twisted road eventually, is gonna lead you back to me Well, I know, I know
You know the way When the world is closin' in, you're breakin' down
You're cryin' out but there is no answer
When you call, just close your eyes and know that
This twisted road eventually, is gonna lead you back to me It's gonna lead you back to me
I'm gonna lead you home

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>