Stand Still

Mary Mary

I am God, God
I am God, GodThinking to yourself that you're by yourself
Yet and still you're talking loud
But just tell me who you talking to
If you don't believe I'm aroundSaid, "I'll never leave, so you're never alone
Even when you feel you are
I'm right here holding your hand
But still you think I'm way too far"What do I gotta do to make you understand
That I want what's best for you and I always have?
But maybe you're confused about who I really am
Stand still and know I'm GodYou look at your life and your wonder
Why your situation never changes
You blame it on them, you blame it on me
Maybe it's you thinking the wrong wayYou should close your eyes, open them again
Maybe you'll see that I gave you life
And another chance to give me a chance
To take your wrong and make it rightWhat do I gotta do to make you understand
That I want what's best for you and I always have?
But maybe you're confused about who I really am
Stand still and know I'm GodMaybe you are only listening to what you wanna here
'Cause if you follow my direction, everything would be so clear
I'm the answer, the solution to every question that you ask
Only way you made it this far is because I carried you here soWhat do I gotta do to make you understand
That I want what's best for you and I always have?
But maybe you're confused about who I really am
Stand still and know I'm GodWhat do I gotta do to make you understand
That I want what's best for you and I always have?
But maybe you're confused about who I really am
Stand still and know I'm GodWhat do I gotta do to make you understand
That I want what's best for you and I always have?
But maybe you're confused about who I really am
Stand still
