

Let the People Say

Alberto Monnar

You might have thought
"What will they say?
If they see me with you,
then they will assume that you're in love with me"

No matter what they think
No matter what they do They'll never understand that what we have is special, great, and true

So let the people say
Let the people talk
They don't really know
that this love will grow
and that it's here to stay

Let the people say
Let the people think
To them, it's just pretend
but later in the end
it's still you and me

Rumors many times
come to your mind
that this will never work and this is so absurd and this will never last

What do they know?
They don't really see That this is true love and though times may be tough, its for eternity

///So let the people say
Let the people talk
that this love will grow

Let the people think
it's still you and me///

It's still you and me
