

Again

Kutless

Awakened from a dream again to a sunrise of your own
How could I expect any more from the one who is so pure
Yet u gave up your life and your still giving more
This must imply that Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave
Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave to me A fountain flows with gifts from you, that I do nothing for
You cover me with your love though I nailed you to a cross
I don't understand but I thank you the same
This must imply that Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave
Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave to me Go, go, go Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave
Love again, again, again
I don't deserve this love you gave to me
