Pressure

Threshold

i can't see in front of me i feel blind to my sentence my assumed autonomy is all steeped in dependencei'm breaking insidei watch time delimiting but i don't see the answers i know gain's diminishing but i'm wasting my chancesi'm breaking inside my head's above the water but i just can't fight the tide till the pressure subsidesall you see reflects on me how can it be forever
all i do reflects on you now do you feel the pressurewith all things permissible i can't stem the pollution and no hand invisible can assure resolutioni'm breaking inside my head cries out for stillness but i just can't find the time till the pressure subsidesall you see reflects on me
now do you feel the pressure all i know will come and go you can't have it all together all you ask will come to pass now do you feel the pressurei'm breaking inside
my head's above the water but i just can't fight the tide
till the pressure subsidesall you see reflects on me
now do you feel the pressure
