

Birtherd By Architecture

Versus the Mirror

A window is still a window even when the glass has been removed in a fight for power as I watch the world fall apart I'd offer my hand but then I'd be lowering my defenses I'm obliged not obligated I hope you understand hey kef I'm still here for this dreaming the sound of your steps into the sea hey kef you caused the deadbolt and i know why sleep tonight is something I won't try writhing in my clothes and these phlegmatic words are all I have to show You put me way up in the clouds and I never hope that I come down You put me way up in the clouds and I never hope that I come down Hey kef I'm still here for this dreaming the sound of your steps into the sea If we're going to twitch we're doing this in style move to the rhythm smooth tremble
loose temper
smooth tremble
loose temper a window is still a window even when the glass has been removed You put me way up in the clouds
and I never hope that I come down

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>