

Out of Reach

Karnataka

Going up, coming down
And she counts every day by the number of times
Waking up with the tears still in her eyes
Going up, coming down
No-one said that this life would be easy
So hard
Taking the open road
The last train homeBad dreams, waking insanity
Makes her long for the other sideFunny how suddenly
Any place would be better than this one
Falling, deeper down with the cracks that start to show
Giving up, giving in
She's so careful to plan every moment
Dangerous how indifferent she's becomeBlack clouds gather together where Loneliness is her only friendBreaking away from a life on the run
She hoped for tomorrow
But that never comes
Always somewhere out of reachGoing up, coming down
Lost in some kind of twisted perfection
Everything said and done and over nowCold like stones on the empty beach
Tide is turning
The waves roll in
Coming inBreaking away from a life on the run
She hoped for tomorrow
But that never comes
Always somewhere out of reach
