

You've Got To Belong To It (LP Version)

Pantera

Build an inner door, drop and then explore
You smoke your head on straight, then drink
Your woes away

Some might not understand possession that's beyond your head
You recognize it, while some ignore it
Avoid the masses, you got to belong to it
So the music is your friend

Well it's the roof above my head
So seriously I take the will that never breaks

Some might not understand, the possession that controls your hands
You recognize it, while some ignore it
Avoid the masses, you got to belong to it
You recognize it, while some ignore it

Avoid the masses, you got to belong to it
It's power and sin
And then you've got whisky and smoke
And it's all a man could need, to plant the perfect seed
To disembody me

Making more like you and me
You recognize it, while some ignore it
Avoid the masses, you got to belong to it
