So Long Farewell

Clarkkent

I heard an angel sing hey, hey, hey
Made your Jesus and Mary chain chain chain
She was loaded and knocked out on the marble tiles again
I put an angel to sleep sleep sleep major feelings of feelings went creep creep creep
I was watching her kung-fu through the darkness and the dreams
I wonder why she's so fragile and I wonder why she never smiles
she's the saddest music in the world tonight
She had a fever burn burn burn
Holy watering eyeballs churn churn churn
She was violently comatose the best part of the day
Several hours went bye bye bye
She crawled out from the blankets and sigh sigh sighed

She clambered into purgatory once the sun went down
I wanted to help so badly
But my help just prolonged her decent
She's the saddest music in the world tonight
So long, farewell
May I see you when its over
Goodnight, good luck
I hope it all works in your favor
So long, old friend
Take my words and think them over
So long, farewell
You're the saddest music in my world tonight
