

Silence and Air

C Duncan

Tell us where we want to go and take us there.
From the sights and city lights to anywhere.
How can we follow silence and air?
How can we follow if there's nothing there?
And go too far. Tell us where we ought to be and lead the way.
Past the cars, the streets and stars of memory.
How can we follow what isn't there?
How can we follow silence and air?
And go too far.
