

But Not for Me

Willie Nelson

I passed a home the other day
The yard was filled with kids at play
And on the sidewalk of this home
A little boy stood all alone His smiling face was sweet and kind
But I could see the boy was blind
He listened to the children play
I bowed my head and there I prayed Dear Lord above, why must this be
And then these words came down to me
After all, you're just a man
And it's not for you to understand It's not for you to reason why
You too are blind without my eyes
So question not what I command
'Cause it's not for you to understand
