Watch

Bukshot

The dust is settling now, I can see your expression
The look on your face is asking me how, how can you leave me here?
My words are falling to the ground, in one ear out the other
I'll just have to live it outWatch these chains fall from my hands
Then you will understand
Then you will understand
Watch me walk through these prison bars
Then you will know my heart is free
Then you will know my heart is free, yeahEmptiness plagues you inside, you're surrounded by sorrow
It follows you where you hide, and exposes you every time
There is life beyond this crippling cage, and shelter from the rage
Only you can decideWatch these chains fall from my hands
Then you will understand
Then you will understand
Watch me walk through these prison bars
Then you will know my heart is free
Then you will know my heart is freeFor the first time I'm alive
No longer pressed by doubt and fear
No longer drowning in my tears
He saved me from going underWatch these chains fall from my hands
Then you will understand
Then you will understand
Watch me walk through these prison bars
Then you will know my heart is free
Then you will know my heart is freeWatch these chains fall from my hands
Then you will understand
Then you will understand
Watch me walk through these prison bars
Then you will know my heart is free
Then you will know my heart is free, yeah
