Run Myself Into the Ground

Jessica Lea Mayfield

Where did my self control go?
Did it rise up from my body when i answered the phone
And you told me not to lie to you
And i decided to tell the truth
But I ain't gonna change for no body at all
I'm starting to like this new love i have found
I don't want to let this dark companion go
I would rather run myself into the ground
Where did my mind wonder off to?
Found myself yammering on to you
Thought I'd never let those things outside my head Probably should have kept them locked away instead
But I ain't gonna change for no body at all
I'm starting to like this new love i have found
I don't want to let this dark companion go
I would run myself into the ground
Every ones watching me
And I'm starting to believe that i cant read every ones mind before i am accused your eyes give me the cue and I am at the door
But I ain't gonna change for no body at all
I'm starting to like this new love i have found
I don't want to let this dark companion go
I would rather run myself into the ground
