

Halo

All That Remains

There is no judgement day
No jury to abide
Our lives are worlds away
The distance makes you blind So you think you know the way that I should live my life
I know a better way
I swear I know a better way
I'll smash your crown before I give you power to decide
I know a better way
I swear I know a better way
You don't get to say what I'm made of
You don't give me a halo
Don't give me a halo There is no sacred way
No rules to live my life
No man or deity can tell me wrong from right So you think you know the way that I should live my life
I know a better way
I swear I know a better way
I'll smash your crown before I give you power to decide
I know a better way
I swear I know a better way You don't get to say what I'm made of
You don't give me a halo
Don't give me a halo You don't
You don't
You don't get to say what I'm made of
You don't give me a halo
Don't give me a halo
You don't get to say what I'm made of
You don't give me a halo
Don't give me a halo
