Reject Yourself

Killswitch Engage

Their cries are blown away with the wind
How passive can we be before humanity is lost?
Turning our backs on those who need love
We must not rest while healing is needed
Tear down the veil that bars your heart from feeling this
Dedicate yourself, give your souls to compassion
With open arms embrace this heart
With open eyes behold the truth, embrace this life
So little time is left, we must be relentless
In our pursuit of those in torment

Tear down the veil that bars your heart from feeling this
Dedicate yourself, become the voice of compassion
With open arms embrace this heart
With open eyes behold the truth, embrace this life
Can you reject yourself?
Can you feel their agony?
In a world that feels on disregard
Heal the broken hearted
