Lucid Dreams (feat. Nahko)

SOJA

Every time I close my eyes
I find myself in the corners of my mind
And I'm in there, here somewhere
Under the covers I can feel it it's pulling me
No one can know where my mind goes
My dreams more real than my reality
And a memory inside of me
Will it be with me forever until infinityWaiting for my conscious calling
Listening to hear me talking
Slowing down the rate of motion
Focusing inside an ocean
Catching myself falling over
Looking back and seeing no one
Walking through this lucid dream again
I never thought it would come to this
How did I get here, what did I miss
I have been trying to find righteous ment road
I wanna remember the womb of my mother
Wanna understand all the love of my father
I'm so close I can feel it in my bones, my bonesWaiting for my conscious calling
Listening to hear me talking
Slowing down the rate of motion
Focusing inside an ocean
Catching myself falling over
Looking back and seeing no one
Walking through this lucid dream again
Now every day is only
Counting the seconds and minutes that separate me
From who I am, really am
In this body temporarily on my journey
Going, going gone and I can feel it
Like a wrecking ball crashing through me
And I don't make one sound
When I can hear it
As the memories prove I've been hereWaiting for my conscious calling
Listening to hear me talking
Slowing down the rate of motion
Focusing inside an ocean
Catching myself falling over

Looking back and seeing no one
Walking through this lucid dream againOh that perfect peace is within my reach
It's a humbling process
Somewhere within me is integrity
Could be a medicinePlay the music open up my heart
And a good way to healing realizing it starts with Finding all my answers within me
Within meWaiting for my conscious calling
Listening to hear me talking
Slowing down the rate of motion
Focusing inside an ocean
Catching myself falling over
Looking back and seeing no one
Walking through this lucid dream againWaiting for my conscious calling
Listening to hear me talking
Slowing down the rate of motion
Focusing inside an ocean
Catching myself falling over
Looking back and seeing no one
Walking through this lucid dream again
