

I Believe

Tim Halperin

All the miles and how they pass,
I know I ain't looking back
All the years and how we change,
But this one thing still remains
All we are is what we want to be
All I know is this was meant for me I believe that this is not the end,
But the moment we begin to understand
We're still climbing, and we
We're sifting through the sand
And we're taking what we can
But in the end,
We're still climbing Every cut and every bruise
Every storm we didn't choose
A call to stand up and be strong
Together we carry on
All we are is what we want to be
All I know is this was meant for me I believe that this is not the end,
But the moment we begin to understand
We're still climbing, and we
We're sifting through the sand
And we're taking what we can
But in the end,
We're still climbing If we never reach the top
Still you know we'll never stop I believe that this is not the end,
But the moment we begin to understand
We're still climbing, and we
We're sifting through the sand
And we're taking what we can
But in the end,
We're still climbing
We're still climbing
Oh, we're still climbing

Songwriters

JENKINS, CARLOS JERMAINE / QUINNEY, MATTHEW / THOMPSON, ALBERT Published by Lyrics © Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>