Game Over

Insolence

Why does this take
All of my energy?
I feel like I'm killin' you
But you're killing meMy last emotion at zero
Why is this happening?
I don't knowYou think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
Well, I'm breaking down
It's happening right hereI can't find myself
Fall
Down
And ruin everythingFaulty distant wound reopen
Fortified then broken
Story unfolds truth of an outcast
Lost in a circle of firebombsCrowded failed reaction
Slipped from lack of traction
This is my fire, this is my flame
Burning inside of me nowSurvival
It means everything
When you are locked inside
Of your cell, of insecurityYou think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
Well, I'm breaking down
It's happening right hereI can't find myself
Fall
Down
And ruin everythingBacktrack, stunned inside emotion
Repaired and re-broken
Torn at the seam
Sound of an onslaught bastard associateDistance only forgin' outwards
Peace is not without war
This is my fire, this is my pain
Burnin' inside of me nowYou think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
You think that this is a gameThey tell me, don't jump in the water
If you can't swim with the sharks now
Lost in the function, chain reaction
Feelin' something fall backwardsAll I breathe inside I

Hopefully becomes
This is my fire, this is my pain
Burning inside of me nowYou think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
You think that this is a game
You think that this is a gameYou think that this is a game
(Before it starts)
You think that this is a game
(The game is over)
You think that this is a game
(Before it starts)
You think that this is a game
(The game is over)
