Fever

Judas Priest

I'd spend my days alone
I used to stay at home
Lost in seclusion there
Like I was in a cell
A captured heart as well
Surrounded by despair
Darkness filled my soul
Losing all control
Down on the streets below
Bright city lights would glow
The energy would rise
And through the heat I'd gaze
Still counting empty days
With fire in my eyes
Living through this hell
Can I break this spell?
Fever, you set my soul on fire
Fever, you fill me with desire
Fever, you always get it right
Fever, all day and all night
Then one night as I walked
I heard your body talk
I saw a shooting star
In some magnetic trance

Our beating hearts would dance
And crash down from afar
Oh, how strange fate is Never dreamed of this
Fever, you set my soul on fire
Fever, you fill me with desire
Fever, you always get it right
Fever, all day and all night
So destiny has bought us
Oh, so close together
We were like angels in the night
Living the dream
At last I'll be with you forever
And all at once it feels so right

Fever, you set my soul on fire
Fever, you fill me with desire
Fever, you always get it right
Fever, all day and all night
Fever, oh, you set my soul on fire
Fever, you fill me with desire
Fever, you always get it right
