Miles Away

Savatage

And a cool, cool rain comes down
On a world burned by the sun
And the moon arises like a child
And the moment is undoneAnd the stars never say what they see
As the moon flirts with shadows it makes through the fallen trees
Some would wait for the morning light
But I fall asleep 'til I'm safe in the arms of nightYeahLet the darkness roll in Let it wipe the light away
In the distance always calling
Morpheus, he beckons playStill the morning is preordained
But I believe light is the source of all our pain
It reveals the smallest sin
But dark covers all and will always take youArmed and gunning, I'll be running
Always just before the day
In the distance, day is dawning
But I'm already miles away, miles awayIn the night there's wonder
Always there for you to see
In the light of morning visions fade
And dreams can fleeWith the darkness the night forgives
Covers our scars and lets the lost souls live
And the morning's a distant fear
But if we move fast they'll never find usArmed and gunning, I'll be running
Through a world that's in decay
Let them thunder, stare and wonder
'Cause I'm already miles away, miles away, yeah
Ooh, miles awayI've been running, armed and gunning
Always just before the day
In the distance, day is dawning
But I'm already miles away
Miles away, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeahMiles miles away
Miles away yeah
Miles miles away, ooh yeah
Away, away, awayAnd the rain comes down
