Daughters

Jenny Reynolds

Daughters
Jenny Reynolds
The world moves to fast
It's full of retouched pictures
Golden glitter
But we're more than that
We're different lights all shining
Burning brightly
And everywhere we go
We know
We are daughters
Of a king who shows us
We're already enough
We can lift each other
As we're finding our way
He helps our faith to grow stronger
So we know
We know
We are daughters
He sees our worth
Every heart is priceless
He reminds us
As we go forth
He is always listening
To each word we speak
Everywhere we go
He knows
We are daughters
Of a king who shows us
We're already enough
We can lift each other
As we're finding our way
He helps our faith to grow stronger
So we know
We know
We are daughters
The roads that lie ahead are countless
We each play different parts
No matter where our footsteps takes us

We know
That we are
Daughters
Of a king who shows us
We're already enough
We can lift each other
As we're finding our way
He helps our faith to grow stronger
So we know
We know
We are daughters
