

Preview of Hell

Nasum

The worlds collide and crash outside
I feel the cold winds passing by
Im armed and ready, so ready for more
This is my last note from the warWe never knew
We never knew what was waitingIm riding next to the very black death
Getting high on his stinking breath
Im armed and ready for more of this war
I guess thats what I am here forWe never knew
We never knew what was waitingSome, they scream and cry out when they fall
Some say nothing at all
You wouldnt never believe where Ive been
Or the sights that I have seenThere was blood, red and black, everywhere
There was blood, there was blood everywhere
There was blood, red and black, everywhere
There was blood everywhere, there was blood
