Collapse

Noah Young

The absence of your words
It makes me want to speak
But they're plugged up tight and my throat is dry
And silence it screams at me
Because your tears are all that's left to light the path
For what's ahead so with heads up high
We close our eyes and we take a deep breath oh oh
As yesterday directs our next stepDon't be making yourself a smile to hide behind
Then tell me there's nothing more to find
Collapse into me girl and let yourself unwind
Because I'm staying by your side tonightAnd it's lovely to see your eyes cry innocently
And you sink into vulnerability all I ask is you
Cling on to me because I'm blind
I'm blind to the girl you used to be
All I see is perfection sitting in front of meDon't be making yourself a smile to hide behind
Then tell me there's nothing more to find
Collapse into me girl and let yourself unwind
Because I'm staying by your side tonightLa da da da di la di da da da da da da
(because I won't let this go)
La da da da (Oh) di la di (la la la la) da da da da da da
So tangle your legs into mine and stay here until the sunrise
There's nowhere else I want to spend my time
Been waiting on you to open your eyes and gaze so softly into mine
I melt every time. I melt every timeDon't be making yourself a smile to hide behind
Then tell me there's nothing more to findDon't be making yourself a smile to hide behind
Then tell me there's nothing more to find
Collapse into me girl and let yourself unwind
Because I'm staying by your side tonight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/