

Promises

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I went outside
To take a walk
So I could relive memories
I thought that you would lend a hand But you were never ever there
It's all in your mind
You do what you want to do
Your promises are all played out You've got your wish
You've worn me down
I've treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you I lost my way
When you left home
I thought that you could change your life
What did I do Why do you lie
You've walked back in
My hands are tied
It's all in your mind You do what you want to do
Your promises are all played out
You've got your wish
You've worn me down I've treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you
It's all in your mind
You do what you want to me It's all in your mind
You do what you want, to me
I'm tired
I'm so damn angry with you You're not gonna change
I see who you really are
Your promises are all played out
You've got your wish You've worn me down
I've treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you
Your promises Your promises
Your promises

They're all played out
You're so played out You're so played out
You're so played out
They're all played out
