Anyone (feat. Former Vandal)

Lauren Sanderson

We rise and we fall
Bedrooms and bathroom stalls
We rise and we crawl
Voicemails, missing calls

He like it or don't
Hand-written notes
Put 'em in yo car
When the curtains close
And just so you know
And just so you know

I knew it would happen
Hate that it happened
Since I lost you, girl
I regained my traction

Sooner or later
I'll regain my voice
No more time wastin'
To be just a choice

Had to get at it
Had to get past it
Energy spent on what could be my passion

Do what you gon' do
Hack like I used you

How's the other side with your twisted little mind, huh?

And I loved you more than I ever thought
I love anyone, woah
And I miss you more than I ever thought
I miss anyone, woah

We rise and we fall
The stakes were too tall
We rise and we fall

You're screening my calls

No, like it or not
I think you forgot
The bones that I broke
Just to be what you want

With all that had happened
I drowned you in passion
I begged you to stay
But, you just wouldn't have it

Admit you miss the scar of my lips on your back
We faded to black
The stories you twist, bite your upper lip
When you're 'bout to say something that you know you prolly shouldn't

Had to get at it
Had to be passive
Did what I could to get past the aggression

You look like you used to
But smell like the booze do
Hard to walk the line with the liquor in your eyes, huh?

And I loved you more than I ever thought
I love anyone, woah
And I miss you more than I ever thought
I miss anyone, woah

Oh, oh, oh, oh x2

It's four o'clock and my head won't stop
Thinkin' 'bout everything and nothing at once
I still feel you in my thoughts

It's four o'clock and my head won't stop
Thinkin' 'bout everything and nothing at once
I still hear you when I talk

Woah

And I loved you more than I ever thought
I love anyone, woah
And I miss you more than I ever thought
