Shine

Plain White T's

You know it tears me up inside
To see the feelings that you hide
Hide inside that empty bottleI wish, you saw how great you were
I wish, you saw what life was worth
You wouldn't have to hide your problemsAnd I don't care what you might think
I think, you've had too much to drink
Can't even talk when you're this wayRun away, run away
But that won't make it any better
Run away, run away
And make tomorrow harder to live than todayThere's so much out there you could miss
There's so much life out there to live
If you would just believe in yourselfYou know, you're better than all of this
You know, you've got so much to give
But you're so afraid to give of yourselfAnd I don't care what you might think
I think, you've had too much to drink
Can't even talk when you're this wayRun away, run away
But that won't make it any better
Run away, run away
And make tomorrow harder to live than todayThere's a bright light shining inside you
It shines out through your eyes
Don't drown it away, don't be afraid, don't hide
Let it shine, oh, oh, let it shineYou say, you're looking for happiness
But when it comes, you run away from it
You tell yourself you don't deserve itThere's not much more that I can do
And now the rest is up to you
Until you love yourself, you'll never changeRun away, run away
But that won't make it any better
Run away, run away
And make tomorrow harder to live than todayRun away, run away
But that won't make it any better
Run away, run away
You'll keep on running until you deal with today
