

Tongue Tied

Faber Drive

Bright, cold silver moon
Tonight alone in my room
You were here just yesterday
Slight turn of the head
Eyes end when you said I guess I need my life to change
Seems like something's just not the same
What could I say? I'll need a little more luck than a little bit
'Cause every time I get stuck, the words won't fit
And every time that I try to get tongue tied
I need a little good love to get me by I'll need a little more help than a little bit
Like the perfect one word no one's heard yet
'Cause every time that I try, I get tongue tied
I need a little good luck to get me by this time I stare up at the stars
I wonder just where you are
You feel a million miles away
(I wonder just where you are) Was it something I said
Or something I never did
Or was I always in the way
(Was it something I did)
Could someone tell me what to say
To just make you stay I'll need a little more luck, than a little bit
'Cause every time I get stuck, the words won't fit
And every time that I try, I get tongue tied
I need a little good luck to get me by I'll need a little more help than a little bit
Like the perfect one word no one's heard yet
'Cause every time that I try to get tongue tied
I need a little good love to get me by this time I know it feels like the end
Don't wanna be here again
And we could help each other off the ground
So we never fall down again And what it takes I don't care
We're gonna make it, I swear
And we could help each other off the ground
So we never fall down again, again I'll need a little more luck than a little bit
'Cause every time I get stuck, the words won't fit
But every time that I try to get tongue tied
I need a little good luck to get me by I'll need a little more help than a little bit
Like the perfect one word no one's heard yet
'Cause every time that I try to get tongue tied
I need a little good luck to get me by this time I know it feels like the ends

Don't wanna be here again
And we could help each other off the ground
So we never fall down again And what it takes I don't care
We're gonna make it, I swear
And we could help each other off the ground
So we never fall down again, again
