Back to Higher Ground

The Briggs

I'm introduced to a plague of ignorance
Might be my own but I can't be too sure Looking to be rescued with no sign of deliverance
That can't exist, it can't existHearts can grow so cold in the heat of the moment
It freezes over like the devil's abode
Don't look so troubled
You're the salt of the Earth now
We can't regress, we can't regressBack to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher ground
Hope can dry up like the LA river
But droughts never last forever
A thirst for more is just human nature
We can't regress, no we can't regressSocially conscious of self-consciously social Show my true colors like a waving flag
Make up in strife for direction that I lack
We can't regress, we can't regressBack to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher groundDancing on their grave
To the sound of savage victory
With the power we possess
We can't regress, we can't regress
Sing a song of freedom,
Pay homeage to the fathers
That paved the way for sonic liberty
A note that rings so true in all of us
We can't regress, We can't regressBack to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back downBack to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
Back to higher ground
Reaching up, we won't back down
