Fate Conquered The Power

Metalium

[Theme: Inkas / South America]Heaven knows how it started
The beginning lies in the dark Thirteen rulers guarded Til Pizarro left mark.The kingdom they created Forever shining in their hearts
Something deep inside of me
Is searching for the keyDynasty on it's knees Shouldn't last forever
Ride though history
When fate conquered the powerSons of war, fighting for Power, fame and glory
It was plain to see when fate conquered the powerTemples and alter built Magnificent, enlightened they shine Thundering firestorm killed it Rebellions tried to turn back time.The kingdom they created Forever shining in their hearts
Something deep inside of me
Is searching for the keySons of war, fighting for Power, fame and glory
It was plain to see
when fate conquered the powerSons of war, fighting for Power, fame and glory
It was plain to see when fate conquered the power[STORY:]The Inca were originally the original, warlike tribe living in the semiarid region of South America. The Inca realm became a target of Spanish Imperial ambitions, as their culture contained extensive deposits of silver and gold.
In 1532 the Spanish soldier Francisco Pizarro and his force possessed the Inca Empire. Even in 1760, Rebellions tried to rebuilt the Inca tribe.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/