Stronger (feat. Tyna)

Scribe

And I made through, and I made it through the, Oh and i made it through the rain and the cold through the dark all alone my life hit rock bottom i had no where to go and if i could turn back time and change the road that i chose all the mistakes that i made it burns a hole in my soul and it took all that i had to get out of that hole it took the birth of my son to get back my control see man i just went number one, aint going back to the dole im stronger than ever my enemies they thought i would fall and yoCHORUS Thats why Im standing up, Im holding on to my life yo I gotta be strong now watch me rise you wont see me fall Im stronger now i can take them allSo alone and confused and my soul was abused and here come a hand to throw me a noose it took the love of my fam and my friends to show me the truth I lived a lifetime of pain and i was only a youth and its hard tryin to swim in an ocean of fools and i thought I catch a break but i'd broken the rules and ma always told me take care of yourself lest the devil put a fork in the road that you choose and even the strongest trees must grow from the roots see a house without love aint a home its a roof its shelter without warmth yeah you know its the truth and i feel most at home when im alone in the booth and my flow is unstoppable this poem is the proof its poetry pen and paper my label is showing the fruits while i grow and improve and their all slow and observe exactly what youve learned and you know when they're throwin the curve and if their showing concern its not cause their care its just cause they know what they owe in return time just feels like its taking me too long the trials and tribulations are why i grew strongCHORUSoh, tell my mother that i love her like no other im holding nothing above her we made it out of the gutter did i stutter i came with the goods and for my fam i came from the hood where you got no choice but to plan a way to make it out somehow we'll break away from these chains like Che Fu well never fade away i came to stay made it through the rainy days never will i go astray came to take the pain awayThats why Im standing up, Im holding on i just made it through the storm by all rights i should be gone they said id never make it i proved them all wrong i took the pain now for so long and im still here and its my life and im not scared against all odds i got here give me your best shot yeah! cause i can take it i wasn't destined to make it i was destined to forever burn in a Fiery BlazeCHORUS
