

You Will Miss Me

Alberto Monnar

You will miss me when the night is growing darker when time begins to grow longer and when the stars begin to shine

You will miss me when you look back at when we were together when you thought our love was forever but now it's late to make things right

I can say that everything has changed that things are not the same and without you, Im better off

Your love was never right for me and I can clearly see that the two of us were never meant to be

You will miss me when the seasons are changing when everything is rearranging and when the colors turn to grey

Although you may want me back again what's done was done, what's said was said It's time to go our separate ways

that things are not the same

Your love was never right for me
and I can clearly see
