Second Class

And after all this time I still remember, and you're always on my mind but I cant stay here Cause so long, I've been waiting for so long For everyone to stop and just leave me alone Somehow all the things I am is everything you fear And I cant be the one to say those words you want to hear And the lessons that I've learned, I take them with me, and the bridges that I've burned are some of my best memories and so long, I've been waiting for so long For everyone to stop and just leave me alone Somehow all the things I am is everything you fear And I cant be the one to say those words you want to hear Tell me why, tell me why cant you see Close your eyes there is no one here but me, let go, let go and I wont... so long, I've been waiting for so long For everyone to stop and just leave me alone Somehow all the things I am is everything you fear And I cant be the one to say those words you want to hear Tell me why, tell me why cant you see Close your eyes there is no one here but me, let go, let go and I wont...
