

Gravity

Vienna Teng

Hey love, is that the name
You're meant to have for me to call
Look love, they've given up believing
They've turned aside our stories of the gentle fall But don't you believe them
Don't you drink their poison too
These are the scars
That words have carved on me Hey love, that's the name
We've long held back from the core of truth So don't turn away now
I am turning in revolution
These are the scars
That silence carved on me This is the same place
No, not the same place
This is the same place, love
No, not the same place we've been before Hey love, I am a constant satellite
Of your blazing sun
My love, I obey your law of gravity
This is the fate you've carved on me
Your law of gravity
This is the fate you've carved on me, on me
