Boomerang

Anthem Lights

I know your heart has had enough You've hit your wall but you still try to be tough You swear nobody understands this hell that you're going through The nightmare that's coming trueYou tell your friends that you're okay
But that light inside of you is starting to fade
You barely recognize yourself You're lost and you're so afraid
You don't have to be so braveSometimes we just need to break down and feel
Let go, take time so you can start to heal
Go on and throw it out, your luck will turn around Lose control, no, don't try to hold it in
You will come back stronger, this ain't the end You're gonna find your way You're like a boomerangWalk out the door and take a chance Sometimes you've gotta fall to see where you land Don't gotta have it figured out
If you feel like giving up just lean on the ones you loveEven the sun goes sinking down
But you know tomorrow it'll rise from the ground Here in the rain it's hard to see The place that you wanna be Is closer than you thinksometimes we just need to break down and fall
let go take time so you can start to heal
go on and throw it out your luck will turn around
lose control no don't try to hold it in
you will come back stronger this ain't the end your gonna find your way your like a boomerangYou're gonna find your way You're like a boomerang (x3)I know you're heart has had enough You've hit your wall but you don't have to be toughsometimes we just need to break down and feel
let go take time so you can start to heal
go on and throw it out your luck will turn aroundlose control no don't have to hold it in you will come back stronger this ain't the endyour gonna find your way your like a boomerang
your like a boomerangyour gonna find your way
your like a boomerangyour gonna find your way
your like a boomerangyour gonna find your way
your like a boomerang
your like a boomerang

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/