

Can't Say Good-bye to Yesterday (db jazz Lounge)

Donna Burke

I stare at the sky
And the stars up above
And think what am I made of
Am I full of sorrow?
Am I hurt and pained?
Or am I filled with love?

I walk by myself
On the streets below
And ask every child I know
"Do you think tomorrow
Will bring sun or rain?
Which one of these will show?"

I can't say goodbye to yesterday my friend
I keep holding on, 'till the end
Out of the darkness, there is no other way
Than the light leading to yesterday

It's there that I'll find
Inner peace, not war
And dreams that I let slip away
I will find the joyfulness I'm looking for
Way back in yesterday

[Instrumental]

Why can't each of us
In the world ever see
The best things in life are free
Little sounds of laughter
A warm hug, a smile
A kiss from you to me

I fall to my knees
I cry and I cry
Love do not pass me by
Happy ever after, please stay for a while
Make time refuse to fly

I can't say goodbye to yesterday, my friend
'Cause I know how good it has been Facing forever, here I stand come what may
In the old, in the new Yesterday

It's there that I'll find
Inner peace, not war
And dreams that I let slip away
I will find the joyfulness I'm looking for
Way back in yesterday
Way back in yesterday
Way back in yesterday
