

Another Chance

Just a Band

Woman whispering
There's something I want to say to your eyes
Can I have another chance yeah?
There's something about your body that's cold as ice
Can I have another chance?
There's something about you that when I see your face
I just want another chance
There's something about you that want to see your face
Can I have another chance?
There's something about you that when I see your face
I just want another chance
There's something about you when I see your face
Can I have another chance? Woman whispering Maybe we can start all over again
Can I have another chance?
Maybe you can give I can get
Giving you another chance
There's something about you that when I see your face
I just want another chance
There's something about you that want to see your face
Can I have another chance?
There's something about you that when I see your face
I just want another chance
There's something about you when I see your face
Can I have another chance?
