Believer

Kill Hannah

It took eight years just to realize
No one looks when we say goodbye
Dying just to survive
It feels like the first timeAll the things that you set aside
All the friends that you leave behind
Just so the curtain would rise
And it feels like the first timeTake this heart
It's ticking like a cheap clock
Oh, I need you to believe in me
'Til there's nothing left of usOh, I need you to believe in me
Oh, my GodWe were under the skyline
Through the sirens and flashing lights
Told me it's no use to try anymore
Does it mean that much to you?At that moment when time stops
All at once, see the pressure drops
Weighing in the back of my teeth
I knew that we all could make itTake this heart
It's tickin' like a time bomb
And I'm not running anymore
I'll stand to face it allI'll fight for every breath
Until there's nothing left of us
Oh, I need you to believe in me
Oh my God.And I'm not running anymore
I'll stand to face it all
I'll fight for every breath
Until there's nothing left of usI need you to believe in me
'Til there's nothing left of us
Oh, I need you to believe
I need you to believe
