Diamonds and Why Men Buy Them

Pierce the Veil

Oh no, here we go again
I like to receive

What the earth and sea had thought

It'd be best not to even give me, even give meNow you say, that I never bother you the way he did (Now open your eyes)

Now I saw the moon divorce the sky

Is this what its like?

(Don't run)Spell out, spell out to me, babeSo every week we'll meet

A bed for the backseat

A love drunk memory

(But such a beautiful routine)Now you say, that I never bother you the way he did (Now open eyes)

Now I saw the moon divorce the sky, tonightThis remedy is worse than the disease And slowly killing meWe like the run our blood thin

And laugh at the things we never did

We like to run our blood thin

And laugh at thingsWe say, say, Hello

We say, say, Hello

We say, say, Hello

We say, sayNow you say, were better off that way Now I saw the moon divorce the sky

Is this what its like?
