Tears Fall

BarlowGirl

I've had this same dream many times, it haunts my mind
It starts with a life but it ends every time
Oh, so many faces that this world will never see
A reason for your life but your heart will never beatMay the tears fall down
Let them soften this ground
May our hearts be found
God, forgive us nowOh, what have we lost because we chose we'll never know
And loving You is better than feeling alone
And all our claims to freedom have become these heavy chains
And in the name rights we keep filling nameless gravesMay our tears fall down
Let them soften this ground
May our hearts be found
God, forgive us now

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/