

Downloadable Divorce

Danny Wooten & Southern Slang

I never was accused of being real smart or trying to do the right thing
Every weekend spent with the boys from the band
Iâ€™d play my guitar and Iâ€™d sing
My wife was patient for the last 20 years
She told me go live out your dreams
But still here we are, playing the bars, no big record deal that Iâ€™ve seen

I took for granted all the things around me
My eyes were blinded to see
I finally gave in and her patience wore thin, just like an old pair of jeans

She started downloading divorce papers and said thatâ€™s all she wrote
Now my head is spinninâ€™ like an old roulette wheel
I think Iâ€™m losinâ€™ touch with my soul
Well I was Honkey Tonkinâ€™ all night longinâ€™
A weekend cowboy out of control
Then she downloaded divorce papers, and said thatâ€™s all she wrote

They didnâ€™t catch me at the scene of the crime
But somehow she still knows, a pictures worth a thousand words
At least thatâ€™s how the story goes
From Detroit City to this Florida Town, I think my whole family knows
That I found out the words I hate are the two that I heard the most

PRE-CHORUS

CHORUS

GUITAR SOLO

(B Section)

A toss of the coin, roll of the dice, one big spin of the wheel
She won the bet and she took it all, I lost out on the dealâ€™..
(VOCALS ONLY)â€™.She started downloading divorce papers and said thatâ€™s all she wrote Now my head is spinninâ€™ like an old roulette wheel
I think Iâ€™m losinâ€™ touch with my soul
Well I was Honkey Tonkinâ€™ all night longinâ€™
A weekend cowboy out of control
Then she downloaded divorce papers, and said thatâ€™s all she wrote
And said thatâ€™s all she wrote, and said thatâ€™s all she wrote
(VOCALS ONLY)â€™.And said thatâ€™s all she wrote

Lyrics Submitted by Malty Dog

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>