

Who Would Have Thought

A Telemetry

go on to higher ground and wait for there's not much more time before the flood it will overwhelm and erase all the future with nothing left
not even a drop of blood aren't we lucky we get to see the end no one comes after us my friend

who would have thought
it could end like this
who would have thought
who could know

settle all your differences and hate
for there's not much more time before you leave it will destroy and wash away the hope
with nothing left
for anyone to retrieve

aren't we stupid we lived the way we did it doesn't matter now close the lid

who would have thought
it could end like this
who would have thought
who could know

how long can you read between the lines of a real world coming undone you noticed the wrong and made it seem right now it's time to leave this innocence behind you

who would have thought
it could end like this
who would have thought
who could know

Lyrics submitted by m.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>