Burn with Me

Amaranthe

You are gone to the highest bidder
Now you're with a man that is gods worst sinner
Well no, don't care about me
I was just the man who meant to set you free
I tried to Make you a part of me
I even told you what would happen theoretically
There is this something that I need to know
Why am I the only one that lost it allBut every day and every time I turn around
Searching for a place
That I have left behind
And all I wanna believe
That you could bleed soBurn with me
I'm just an empty shell
Another's friend
Transformed to someone else
Take your seat
I cast a spell
So you'll be less like you
And more like someone elseOnes life is another's dream
What someone says a myth is one's normality
How can I
Believe there's another sun
Correct me if I'm wrong but I'm the chosen oneAs night has taken what is left of day
And everything is like it's made of clay
I feel like I am the only one
Feeding my need to be reckoned as someoneAnd every day and every time I turn around
Searching for a sign so I can make a sound
But all I want is to flee I wanna see youBurn with me
I'm just an empty shell
Another's friend
Transformed to someone else
Take your seat
I cast a spell
So you'll be less like you
And more like someone elseBurn with me
I'm just an empty shell
Another's friend
Transformed to someone else

Take your seat
I cast a spell
So you'll be less like you
And more like someone elseBurn with me
I'm just an empty shell
Another's friend
Transformed to someone else
Take your seat
I cast a spell
So you'll be less like you
And more like someone else

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/